Shape YOUR FUTURE

Your bachelor's education provided the foundation to begin your career. Now, it's time to consider your next step. To advance and gain the expertise needed to become a leader in your profession, you need a master's degree.

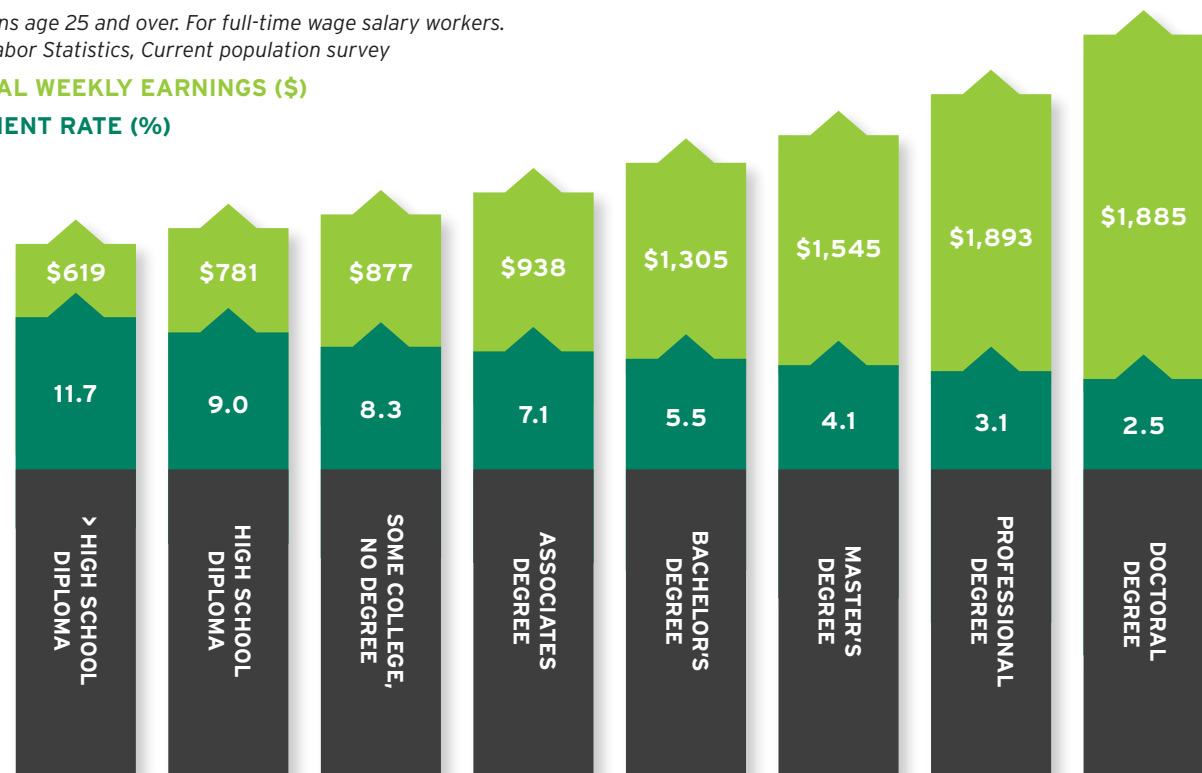

4 REASONS TO PURSUE YOUR MASTER'S DEGREE

- 1. Boost your earning potential and advance your career. Graduate school is an investment, but one that can pay off greatly. Master's degree holders' median monthly income exceeds someone with a bachelor's degree by more than $1,000 per month. Opportunities for advancement in your company may be limited without an advanced degree. A master's degree in your preferred field can be a natural career boost.
- 2. Demand for highly skilled employees is increasing rapidly. Employers are motivated to seek out the most-qualified employees. Nearly a third (32%) of employers are increasing the education requirements for new hires. By earning your master's degree, the likelihood of moving into a leadership position increases to 85%. Unemployment rates for those with a master's degree are consistently among the lowest in the nation.
- 3. Make a difference in your community. Focus on leadership, service and building relationships that turn into a lifelong network. Graduate programs perfect the skills that increase your opportunities within various organizations and with future employers.
- 4. Make a career change. The average person changes jobs about 12 times during their lifetime. If you are considering a new field or career, a master's degree provides the new body of knowledge and experience needed.

FALL 2021 OUTSTANDING STUDENT

Susana Jackman • Library Media and Information Technology, M.S.

A quote from Dr. Alesha Baker, one of Susana Jackman's faculty mentors:

"Susana Jackman is an exemplary graduate student and a caring educator. As a practicing school librarian, Susana was able to immediately implement skills she learned into her practice. For example, during the Pandemic Susana led the Technology Committee at the Oklahoma School for the Blind to equitably distribute accessible digital resources and assistive technology to maximize student potential. At NSU, she serves as a consultant on the accessibility planning team to remove barriers to reading for students with blindness or low vision. She serves as a leader in her community by collaborating with a high school leadership class to send over 60 boxes of braille books to help build the library collection for a new school for the blind opening in Zambia, Africa. Susana uses her knowledge and expertise to improve learning for students here and around the world.

Susana's willingness to implement what she has learned has enabled her to design an engaging library environment at OSB that supports the school's curriculum and meets students' developmental, cultural, linguistic and social needs. We are so proud of her dedication to the field of librarianship and students with visual impairments."
